QUOTE OF THE DAY

“It is justice, not charity, that is wanting in the world.” – Mary Wollstonecraft

“The current opinion that science and poetry are opposed is a delusion. ... Think you that a drop of water, which to the vulgar eye is but a drop of water, loses any thing in the eye of the physicist who knows that its elements are held together by a force which, if suddenly liberated, would produce a flash of lightning? Think you that what is carelessly looked upon by the uninitiated as a mere snow-flake does not suggest higher associations to one who has seen through a microscope the wondrously varied and elegant forms of snow-crystals? Think you that the rounded rock marked with parallel scratches calls up as much poetry in an ignorant mind as in the mind of a geologist, who knows that over this rock a glacier slid a million years ago? ... The truth is, that those who have never entered upon scientific pursuits know not a tithe of the poetry by which they are surrounded.” – Herbert Spencer

“The winds and waves are always on the side of the ablest navigators.” – Edward Gibbon

“Wars produce many stories of fiction, some of which are told until they are believed to be true.” – Ulysses S. Grant

“The ultimate result of shielding men from the effects of folly, is to fill the world with fools.” – Herbert Spencer

“The fairest thing in nature, a flower, still has its roots in earth and manure.” – D. H. Lawrence
